WELCOME TO SUMMER SESSION 2018!

This year, Summer Session classes begin on Sunday and runs through Saturday. The week is filled with exciting educational offerings to support your professional development and progress in the program. In between times, there are ample opportunities for informal meetings with faculty and student colleagues. Below are just a few of the week's highlights. To be sure you don't miss an important event, mark your calendar for the Sunday Community Meeting where you will meet the faculty and get an in depth overview of the week's educational and social opportunities. Every day and evening you can choose from an array of academic, clinical, and research seminars, information sessions, conversation hours, final oral reviews, and community events. Check out the schedule!

Here are just a few highlights of the week:

- Don't sleep in! Sunday through Wednesday begin the day with Anchor groups; get to know faculty better and connect with a small group of students. After that, come to the Community Meeting; each day is a different topic.
- Have faculty told you that you could improve your writing? Look for writing seminars in the Summer Session schedule.
- Become a participator! Attend the Clinical Student Governance Meeting Tuesday morning or one of the many student led meetings during the week.

- On Tuesday and Thursday grab your lunch and join in on the diversity discussion.
- Working on your dissertation and need some support? Sign up for the new RSS28 Dissertation Boot Camp for students with an approved pre-proposal.
- Consider being a clinical TA! Come to the Sunday afternoon meeting.
- Join the engaging dialogue that will ensue at Monday evening's Alonso Center presentation on "Otherness."

Be sure to check the catalog for the seminar descriptions and prerequisites before you register. Remember to check the updates on the Summer Session webpage as we will post any last minute additions and/or changes to the program.

Please remember that you must register by Thursday, May 3, 5:00 p.m. PT. Looking forward to seeing you in Rosemont!

Marilyn Freimuth, Ph.D., Program Director for Clinical Psychology
Jerri Lynn Hogg, Ph.D., Program Director for Media Psychology
Debbie Lemke, Director of Conference and Event Services, and the National Sessions Committee

SEMINARS FOR ACADEMIC CREDIT

You will notice that most seminars are available for academic credit. For RSSs, 710s, 711A, and assessment seminars, registering for the seminar/meeting is a registration for the academic credit option and requires no additional registration step. For the rest of the offerings, some seminars are merely for learning guidance and not for credit, while others offer an academic credit option. Consult the symbol appearing after each numeric credit listed (* or @) and the legend on the schedule for specifics on how registration for academic credit in that seminar is accomplished. Students enrolled in a seminar for academic credit must be prepared to do additional academic work associated with the course credit. This work may take the form of academic papers, seminar presentations, readings, online discussions, etc. A complete description of the course requirements can be found using the Academic Catalog with seminar descriptions available on my.fielding.edu in Student Services/Conferencing and Events/All Schools Summer Session using the All Schools Summer Session Catalog link.
